We presume if Judge Hill had "repeat edly" refused to put negroes on juries the instructions of Judge Rives would have been entirely different, even though a "sim pie affidavit" only had been made by a criminal. What think you, Mr. Dispatch? Fredericksburg Star.

We know not what Judge Rives will do: but if he adheres to his instructions in the case of Judge HILL he will construe the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States just as we did and do. In that case be said:

"The Government must prove that the names of no neuroes were selected and put into the box by the Judge, and the Government must further prove that they were left off the list and excluded because of preju-dice against them on account of their race. color, or previous condition of servitude.

That is just what we understand the decision of the Supreme Court to require.

Acta Columbiana gives a very amusing account of the attempt to obtain the presidential preferences of the Columbia College boys, and says: "Several of the Delaware Senator's admirers bad evidently never seen his name in print, for on half a dozen ballots it was spelled Buyer. Senator Bleine, too, had his name weefully mangled. Blain was common and Blane, Blayne, &c. on was common, and Blavn. Blavne, &c., occurred. Also, that many men had no principle underlying their choice was evident, or else why should any one vote for Grant first and Tilden second, or Hayes and Tilden, or Tilden and Hayes, McClellan and Denis Kearney, &c. ?

We once asked Sir HENRY HOLLAND, whom we socidentally met in Washington
